The Sambhar Lake is a home for many migratory birds. It is one of the best places in India for bird-watching. The flamingoes in the midst of green water and crystal sand make the view extremely spellbinding. Waking up early in the morning and watching thousands of pink flamingoes flying over the white deserted land will make your day.

The sun-kissed landscape of the region makes it perfect for weekend getaways with friends and family, a vacation to rejuvenate and get lost in vast landscape. The Lake has a view that soothes the soul and imparts a surreal experience of witnessing the largest inland salt lake in India.

Experience Salt Harvesting firsthand.
If you really want to see the process of 'Salt making', then board this train and join us for the salt production tour. Meet the salt production workers and get a glimpse into the process of extracting salt from the lake.

Join our locals on an early morning excursion to a nearby village and enjoy a slice of rural life while sipping on tea at a local chai shop and stroll the banks of the salt lake. Rejuvenate the soul and body through a yoga session by the lake.
